Baby Mix-Up Has Spain A'Guessing

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
MADRID, Nov. 29.—Figure this one out, you can. It has got all Spain guessing as to which is which in a remarkable case of two babies born in the village of Corunna.

A youthful mother and her daughter both gave birth to sons at the same hour. While a mob of relatives from all around the packed the spacious parlors in the mother's home, the babies entered the world.

Two doctors rushed out simultaneously announcing "It's a boy." The grandfather rushed in and returned proudly carrying his new born son and his grandson, one in each arm. The cheering, exulting relatives swarmed around, grabbing the babies. The babies were passed around from one to another while they were caressed.

After half an hour there was a sudden silence.

"Caramba! Madre Dios! Which baby is which?" shouted one relative. A frantic investigation proved that the babies had been completely mixed up. Both looked alike, and their mothers were alike as two peas; everybody looked alike. None of the relatives could distinguish between them; neither could the doctors.

Finally it was decided to choose blindly and to baptize the babies two hours apart. A priest baptized the first, but when the second appeared he protested and filed a complaint before the courts. The babies will never know their relationship surely. They will not know who is the grandmother or who is the mother. The nephew may become the grandfather of her own son. An amazing number of tangled relationships is possible. And when the babies get married the tangle will be still greater.

Further complications are expected when the husband of the daughter returns from Argentina, where he is on business and finds the mix-up. He will not know whether he is greeting his son or his brother-in-law.

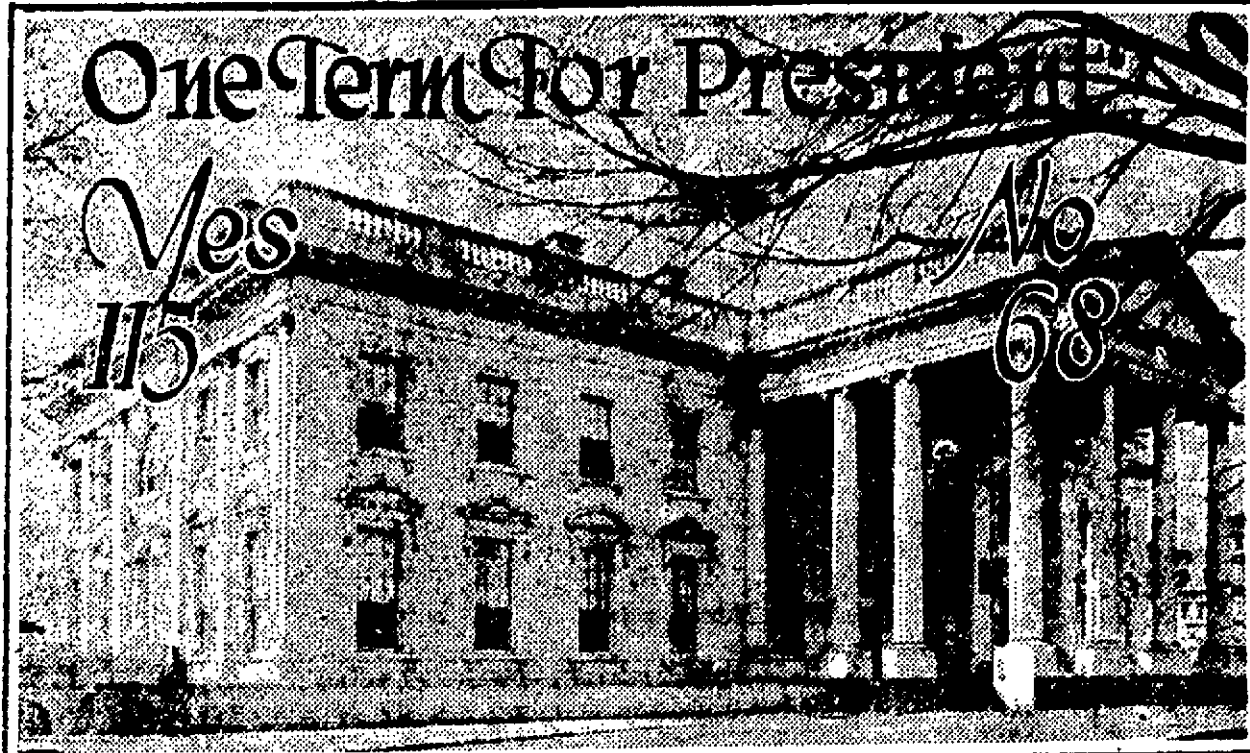

BOY SUCCUMBS TO MASTOIDITIS

The funeral of Lebbeus Morgan, 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Morgan, who died in the General Hospital last Sunday night from mastoiditis, was conducted from the parental home at Glenwood, on the Halifax road, on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock. The funeral was held in Green Hill cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Malcolm S. Taylor, rector of Epiphany church. Playmates of the popular little boy acted as the bearers, and friends of the family carried the floral designs. The little boy was taken quite suddenly with earache about a fortnight ago. The involvement of the mastoid bone resulted in his being taken to the hospital twelve days ago where an operation was performed. A brain complication set in and a second operation was undertaken but the condition discovered was found to be highly critical and he died after lingering a few days.

BUILDERS ACTIVE

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29.—There has been a rush to secure building permits here for apartments and stores since the Missouri supreme court held the local zoning ordinance invalid. Builders are striving to get into restricted zones before a new ordinance can be passed. Twenty-five permits involving $1,468,000 were issued in one day this week.

FAVOR JUST ONE TERM FOR PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Limit the president of the United States to one term.

One term, preferably of six years' duration, with no possibility of re-election.

Largely because of the death of President Harding, this proposal, which has been up before, has gathered more momentum. And today a strong sentiment exists in the Congress, which is just about to convene, to amend the constitution and bring about this change in our presidential election laws.

On the basis of a referendum just completed for The Bee by New Service, a large majority of the new Congress seem to favor the measure.

The Reasons
Letters were written, in the Bee poll, to every senator and every representative in the United States. Replies were received from 295.

And this is the result:
For the one-term amendment—115.
Against the amendment—68.
Non-committal or undecided—23.
Various reasons have been given in behalf of this measure, among them it would make the president independent of politics by relieving him of another campaign; that a six-year term would give the executive more time for a good job; that the unlimited right of re-election is dangerous.

Beneath the strain of executive responsibility, worry and a man-killing regimen, Warren Harding broke without warning. His tragic end plunged an entire nation in mourning and brought forth the question—How shall we save our presidents?

So today, and because President Harding collapsed at the time plans were being made for his next campaign, it is argued that freeing presidents of the worry and the strain, the politics and the health-shattering campaigning of a re-election, will leave them free to pay more attention to their real work—and their health.

Majority in Favor

Will the change be made? At least the effort will be made, for Senator William J. Harris, who introduced the joint resolution in the last Congress, will bring it up again.

"I plan to offer this same amendment in the 68th Congress and urge action before the Senate Judiciary Committee," said Harris.

"I believe my proposal would remove the chief executive from the present field of politics in campaigning for re-election; it would make his tenure certain; it might save his health and prevent a breakdown under the strain of work."

"There is nothing new in the proposition as it has been discussed for many years, and many times legislation has been introduced in Congress." On the basis of the 133 votes cast in the Bee poll, it is apparent that the majority in favor is almost large enough for the two-thirds vote necessary to amend the constitution. A typical case of the referendum is represented in the referendum East and west, north and south, new Congressmen and old Congressmen, progressive and conservative. Many voted just "yes" or "no." Others explained their position.

What They Say
Here is what some of them say: Senator T. H. Caraway, Ark.—Yes. The president ought not to be helpless as he sometimes is because of his desire to succeed himself. Representative Victor L. Berger, Wis.—Yes. I would also pension our ex-presidents. I want them to be economically independent after their term expires.

Senator David L. Walsh, Mass.—No. Democracy is best preserved by short terms and frequent elections.

Representative Joseph W. Fordney, Mich.—No. An attempt to change it would involve an amendment to the constitution. If future amendments are not any better than the last one, I think it better that the constitution be left alone.

Representative R. Clint Cole, O.—Yes. It would save the lives of presidents and give them opportunity to achieve greater things.

Different Opinions
Representative John J. McSwain, S. C.—Yes. I think one term of four years is about all one man can stand under modern conditions.

Representative Elmer Thomas, Okla.—No. The present plan should influence executives to act in accordance with the desires of the majority of the people. I am not convinced that an election to the presidency is either a suicide pact or a condemnation to death.

Of the 115 who voted in favor of one term, 79 advocated a six-year tenure.

The remaining 4 favored terms ranging from four to eight years.

Roads to Chapel Hill In Fearful State Thursday

There was a football game yesterday in Chapel Hill between Carolina and Virginia. It was a mighty battle, but there were no thrills to it. It was a game of two evenly balanced teams fighting hard for every inch and making no headway. Neither team was able to score, or even to threaten a touchdown. There was a colorful background, furnished by many spots of feminine color that in rain and drizzle of a very wet afternoon resolved itself into a drab heather.

The big battle was after the game. It might be termed the battle of the cars. Probably 20,000 people saw the annual Turkey Day contest at Chapel Hill and probably three fourths of this crowd came to the little university village in cars—Lizzies and Rolis Royces—and the small town was filled with cars. The battle happened over the fact that everybody was obsessed with the desire to get away at the same time. As soon as the game was over there was a run for cars and as soon as possible everyone was on the move. Consequently, no one won the battle. It proved a disastrous defeat for all the belligerents.

Chapel Hill is a Main Street town. There it is a wide Main Street, but yesterday that proved a disadvantage. At the height of the conflict there were six cars abreast on this street, and in addition, there were cars running on the sidewalks—both sides.

It was a fearful congestion. Chapel Hill traffic officers were flabbergasted, but very courteous. They did the best they could, but it took, on the average, two hours for every car to get out of the little Tar Heel village yesterday.

And, when most of them took the road they wished they had stayed in Chapel Hill.

All day yesterday it rained and misted. In every direction the roads were slippery and treacherous. To make matters worse, on the way from Durham to Roxboro there are two detours of red clay of the oozy, viscous type. It was stated last night in Roxboro that fifty cars had taken the dirt in more or less permanent condition. One of these detours, on one particularly treacherous stretch, a farmer was doing a land office business putting cars out of trouble.

Because the roads were so treacherous, few drivers risked driving fast. For this reason there was a minimum of serious accidents. Many cars took the ditch and the plowed field; many even turned over, if the topography was adapted to this kind of wreck, but so speed there was little real danger.

One football fan who returned to Durham last night via Burlington said that literally hundreds of cars were in the ditch or turned over on the route. On the way to Durham as way of Cunningham and Sowers hundreds of cars were ditched and their drivers were unable to get them out, but very few turned over.

Many Danville people attended the game and practically all of these made the trip in cars. Most of the local people returned last night, but a number spent the night in Durham. "Bugs" and other motorists going unwilling to risk the return trip with the roads in such a fearful condition.

J. C. WALTON COMMENDED

(By The Associated Press)
FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 29.—Resolutions commending J. C. Walton, former governor of Oklahoma, for the courageous manner in which he has endeavored to put into effect the principles on which he was a candidate for governor and for his cooperation and assistance in organized labor were adopted by the constitutional convention of the United Mine Workers of America, in session here yesterday. Only one vote was cast against the resolution, a Texas delegate declaring that the issue involved was "purely political."

Cunningham Heirs Win Point in Suit

A lawsuit between the estates of Colonel John S. Cunningham, long a well known figure in the political and social life of the State, and J. A. Long, prominent Roxboro banker, was on Wednesday sent back for trial before a jury by the Supreme Court of North Carolina.

Each side has engaged an array of counsel and several stiff legal battles have already been fought. Attorneys for the plaintiff succeeded in getting the estate transferred from Person to Durham county for trial. However, at the trial, Judge W. M. Bond granted a motion for a judgment of nonsuit. The Supreme court now reverse this action and orders that the questions of fact raised be submitted to a jury.

In 1905, Colonel Cunningham gave two mortgages on the land and in 1909 it was sold to satisfy the mortgages, being bid in by Mr. Long for $16,625. Mrs. Cunningham continued to live on the place until 1910. In 1915 Mr. Long died, and in 1920 Colonel Cunningham had brought suit, alleging that Mr. Long bought the land for the plaintiff, agreeing to reconvey the land upon payment of the purchase price and interest. Colonel Cunningham died in 1922, and the suit is now being prosecuted by his heirs. W. M. Cunningham, brother of the plaintiff, testified at the trial that the land was worth between $70,000 and $80,000 at the time it was sold under mortgage.

In the instant case there is evidence tending to show an express trust with an indefinite period for the redemption of the land, and in the record as it now appears we find nothing which precludes the plaintiff on the ground of laches or unreasonable delay. The statute of limitations was not pleaded in the appeal, the court in disposing of the appeal, Colonel Cunningham was widely known in Danville and was a frequent visitor here as are his brothers.

Train, Running 50 Miles Hour, Wrecks

Six Coaches Leave Rails But None of Them Overturn—None of Passengers Seriously Hurt—Lives Saved by Steel Coaches.

(By The Associated Press.)
STUEBENVILLE, Ohio, Nov. 30.—East bound Pennsylvania passenger train No. 1254, known as the Gotham Limited, St. Louis to New York, was wrecked at the east end of Gould's tunnel, about seven miles east of this city at 6:50 a. m. today. Six of the nine coaches, including sleeping cars, left the rails, but none of them turned over and, according to railroad officials, none of the passengers were seriously hurt.

The wreck was caused by a broken rail, according to railroad officials, the train, travelling 50 miles an hour, was clearing the tunnel when the third car of the train struck the bad rail. It left the track and those behind were also pulled off. The cars ran along the ties for about 100 yards, but remained upright, although the trucks were pulled from under the last three Pullmans and they skidded along the tracks.

The fact that it was an all steel train undoubtedly saved the lives of a hundred or more passengers, officials said.

A soon as word of the wreck was received here, a relief train was made up and was sent to the scene. Passengers were picked up and brought to this city and later sent to their destinations east of here. As far as could be learned, the more seriously injured was a man with a sprained ankle.

The wreck tied up both east and west bound tracks. Railroad officials state that it will be 1 p. m. before the westbound track is open and probably longer before the eastbound track is cleared.

Freezing Weather In Mo. Checks Melting Snow

(By The Associated Press.)
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30.—The melting of the deepest snow on record in this section for November was checked early today by freezing temperatures, but with warmer weather forecast in most of the blanketed area for the later hours.

A clinging wet garment nine inches deep mantled Kansas City and the surrounding region yesterday and lay from four to five inches deep in southwestern Missouri and southeastern Kansas.

(By The Associated Press.)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—Pancho Villa, world's flyweight champion, will defend his title in a 10-round decision bout here with Harry Wallace, of this city on December 10. Articles of agreement were signed last night. The fight will be under the new state boxing laws allowing the decision which becomes effective tomorrow.

Virginia's Grid Season Ends Amid Surroundings Unsurpassed; Wyndham White Stellar Star; Review of Games

(By The Associated Press.)
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 30.—The 1923 football season in Virginia, brought to a close yesterday amid surroundings unsurpassed in the annals of the game, added stars to the rolls of every state institution, but none of them so indelibly inscribed his fame in the hearts of the fans as did Wyndham White, one of the mainstays of the Flying Squadron of Virginia Military Institute during the season. The youth was confined to a sick bed, suffering of chills and fever, while his team mates were held to a standstill yesterday by their famed rivals V. P. I.'s Gobblers, through the first half of the game at Roanoke. White, informed of the impasse, jumped from his bed, donned his gridiron togs and at the beginning of the second half of the contest was in the line-up that seemed to take on new life through his presence. He led his team up and down the field until finally the Cadets were in position of the ball on Tech's eight yard line. From there White took it over. He failed to kick goal, but the touchdown was enough for a victory.

While V. M. I. and V. P. I. were battling before a crowd of eighteen thousand persons, at Roanoke, the University of Virginia and North Carolina played to a scoreless tie at Chapel Hill. North Carolina, and Washington & Lee's Generals maintained a clean slate in southern conference games by trimming North Carolina State 20-12 at Norfolk. William & Mary, for the second time in eleven years trounced their ancient rivals, the University of Richmond, 27-6, and Lynchburg had the edge of its free-scoring contest with Hampden-Sydney, 22-19. For the first time in two years King College was held scoreless, but it also kept Carson-Newman from crossing its goal. The scoreless tie kept the Tornado from adding to its season's total of 507 points, more than has been scored by any college eleven this season.

Alabama's rain and mud defense failed yesterday and the Crimson went down before Florida, 16-6. Alabama scored first, but the Gators, finding the yawning to their liking after they had sought postponement of the game, scored most.

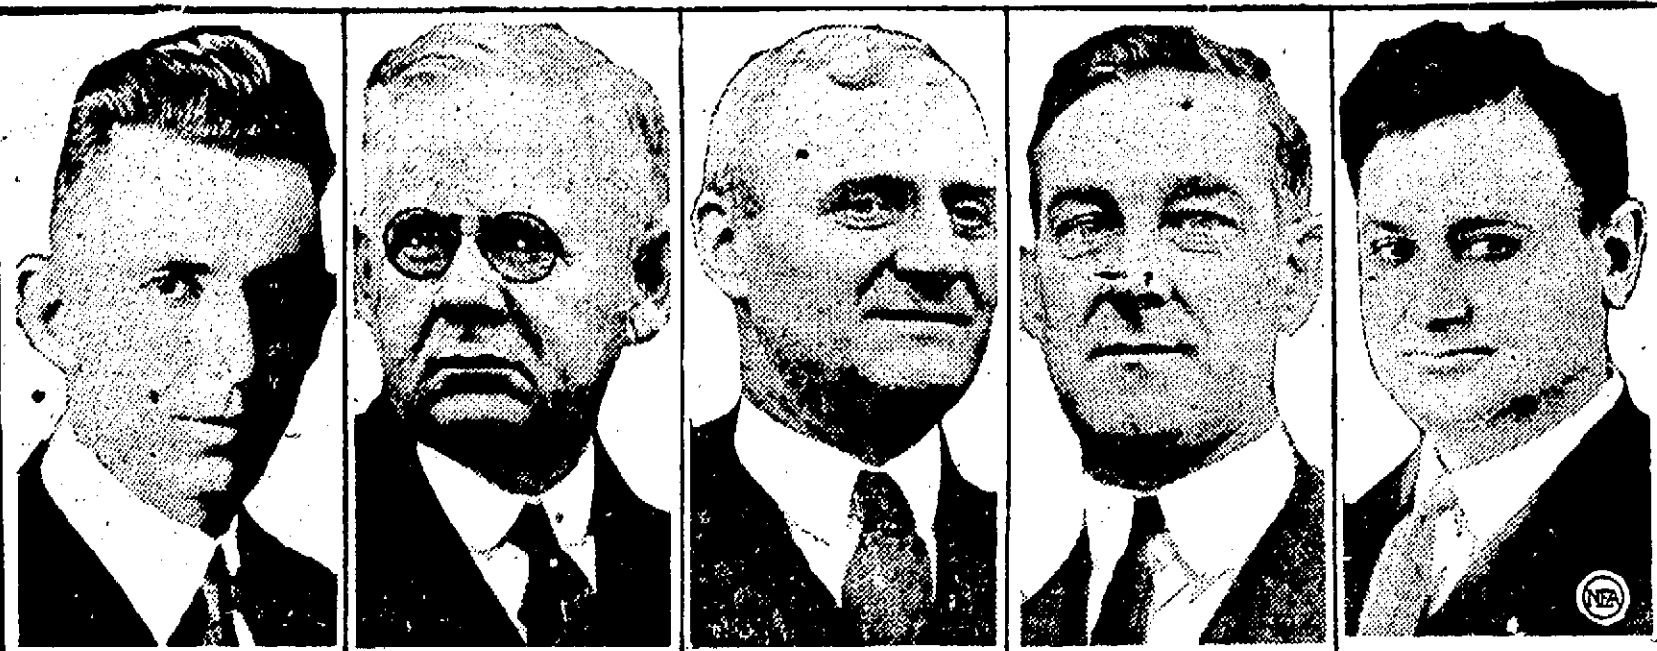

It was Alabama's first defeat and Florida's first victory in the conference.

The Tech-Auburn annual classic went to a muddy draw. It was Tech's fourth tie game of the season and Auburn's third. Ten knotted counts this season have served to muddle the supremacy question.

Tennessee surprised fans by giving Kentucky an 18-0 beating at Lexington in renewal of their annual battles. Vanderbilt, which still enjoys an unbeaten conference season, added a victory yesterday over Sewanee, although the Commodores were held to a 7-0 score. They played in mud.

Clemson today decorated itself with the title of South Carolina championship, claiming this award after its battle with Furman in which the Hurricane went down by one point 7-6. South Carolina had an easy time with Wake Forest, winning 14-7, while Trinity was defeated by Davidson 18-5. Citadel won from Wofford 9 to 0 and Presbyterian College nosed out Newberry 7 to 0. At Chattanooga, Oglethorpe blanked Chattanooga 12-0. Tulane had an easy time with Washington University 19-8, and in Florida Stetson defeated Rollins 15-7. Hendrix beat Arkansas College 7-0, while Arkansas University was defeating Oklahoma Aggies 12-0.

CLEAN UP FAKE OIL STOCK CASES A BIG TASK

THESE MEN ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE EXPOSE AND PROSECUTIONS WHICH ENDED THE WHOLESALE MULLING OF VICTIMS BY FAKE OIL STOCK PROMOTERS. LEFT TO RIGHT: LEON M. SILVER; EDITOR FT. WORTH PRESS; JUDGE SYLVESTER R. RUSSELL; SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO U. S. ATTORNEY GENERAL; JOHN S. SWENSON; VETERAN U. S. POSTAL INSPECTOR; JOHN S. PRATT; SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO U. S. ATTORNEY GENERAL; HENRY ZWEIFEL; U. S. DISTRICT ATTORNEY FOR NORTHERN TEXAS.

INVESTIGATE FIRST!

Before you are tempted to buy oil stock, write to the controller of the state in which oil company is incorporated, or has its legal residence and ask for a written statement of the company's oil production.

The promoter is obliged by law to file such record with the controller, at stated periods. The oil production will show you whether you are in on a losing proposition or not.

It is the acid test. Then when you have found this out, talk some more about the proposition with your lawyer and banker.

Don't let mere words inveigle you.

BY ROY J. GIBBONS

(Special to The Bee)
FT. WORTH, Tex., Nov. 30.—When the mailed list of the government at last descended, there was a wild scurrying for cover amid the ranks of fake oil stock promoters here.

For some time previous, because of their falsely conceived immunity, they had been watching investigators with disdain.

So caloused had they become that visitation by postal inspectors to their haunts was profitably converted into an advertising plea for help.

COMING AND GOING

"The big interests are after us. Send us more money. We need your help. This is a crucial time. Don't let them get us. If they do, your savings will be wiped away."

Such were the petitions, by mail and telegraph. And a majority of duped investors "kicked in" again.

Schoolfield Child Succumbs to Burns

Mozelle Cole, aged four and a half years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cole, of Lee street, died at Edmunds hospital shortly after four o'clock this morning as result of burns sustained yesterday at her home. The little child was fearfully burned all over the body, more particularly about the abdomen. Schoolfield officers who went to the house to make an enquiry were told by Mrs. Cole that she had left momentarily her three small children playing on the porch of her house. Mrs. Cole had been called to the home of a neighbor not far distant and she had hardly reached the place when she heard screams and running back she found her small child in a light blaze in a room where a fire in an open grate was burning. Mrs. Cole seized a bucket of water and threw it over the child extinguishing the flames, which, however, by that time, had already done grave damage. The child was rushed to the hospital where an examination of the burned area left little hope in the minds of attending physicians.

Just how the tragic accident took place is not known. Two smaller children were there but they were too young to give a comprehensive account of what happened. It is assumed, however, that after Mrs. Cole had left the house the toddler entered the room where the fire was burning and ventured too close to the blaze, her clothing becoming ignited.

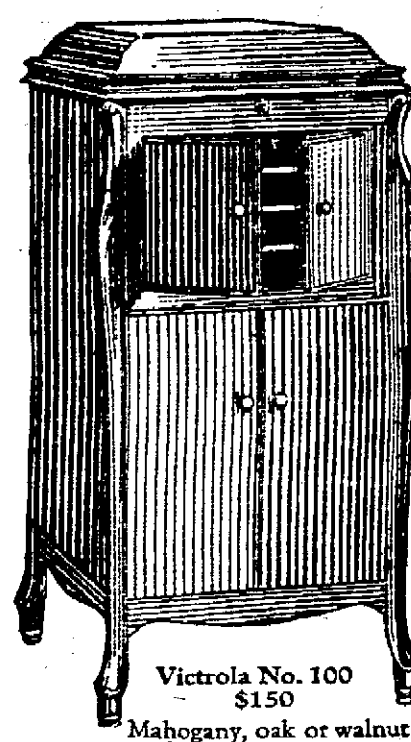

The remains are being sent to Abingdon where the interment will take place.

Salt Your Sugar—Fox Trot	Joe Raymond and His Orchestra	19178 .75

"Rememb'ring" is a pleasant fox trot, agreeable to dance to. The Duncan Sisters wrote it—you will hear a reminiscence of childhood play. "Salt Your Sugar" is another excellent fox trot.

Moonlight Kisses—Fox Trot	Joe Raymond and His Orch.
Music of Love—Fox Trot	International Novelty Orchestra	19179 .75

These numbers have exceedingly romantic titles, but they are wholesome, jolly numbers, free of overstrained sentiment. "Moonlight Kisses" uses a plaintive type of refrain, but elsewhere it is full of life. "Music of Love" is finely scored.

Wednesday Club Program

A large number of members of the Wednesday Club and invited guests were present at the regular Wednesday afternoon November 28, to hear a program presented by the Art Literature Circle.

Mrs. Harrison Robertson read a paper on "Phases of Opera Development" which gave her audience insight into the history of music beginning with Handel's compositions which were a cumulative of the old style staid opera in which he attempted to revive the drama with comedy and by the ancient Greeks, and those who followed him in developing and inventing beautiful melodies and casting them into mould.

She told how the tune-loving Italians forgot the purpose of the music-drama in their enjoyment of the more emotional parts; how the plot was lost and the music employed to exploit the Bravura Extravaganza and local Agilities of the singers, the point at which the declamation again began, and passing of on to Gluck's reforms and the appearance of Wagner, of whom it has been said "Like a colossus he doth bestride the world." A man of mighty ideas beyond whose achievements the opera has as yet moved no step. Mrs. Laura Janos Fuesell, new voice teacher in Randolph Macon School of Music, assisted Mrs. Robertson by illustrating with selections from the old operas and in so doing clearly demonstrated her own ability as an artist in rendering four numbers.

Recitative and Aria—from "Rinaldo" by Handel.
Aria from "Orfeo"
Euridice—from "Von Gluck."
Aria from "Il Trovatore"
Stride La Vama—from "Verdi"
Aria from Don Carlos
Ondine—from "Verdi."

She received an ovation after each selection.

Her voice of rich contralto quality finds easy range to high soprano and the gate each number with beauty of tone, exquisite technique and artistic appreciation.

It would be hard to tell which number was best, but the final selection touched the audience with its melody and expression and won particular applause.

The Aria from "Rinaldo" by Handel, the first selection sung by Mrs. Fuesell, is the oldest opera on present day repertoire and dates the beginning of operatic reform.

The second number was written by the great Verdi, the Italian contemporary of Wagner, and his follower in his later years.

Mrs. Fuesell shows beautiful training and experience both in opera and concert, possesses a dignity of pose and absolute command of her voice at all times.

Danville is certainly fortunate to be congratulating in having Mrs. Fuesell in the city this season and is hoped she may again be heard in concert.

Mrs. Edwin Meade, a finished pianist, accompanied Mrs. Fuesell, and played most acceptably and sympathetically, many of the accompaniments being nearly solos in themselves.

Mr. Sam Sours gave a brilliant piano solo, "Ride of the Valkyries" by Wagner. Mr. Sours demonstrated his musicianship and piano ability once more to the large circle of friends he has in Danville, where he is no stranger on musical occasions, and always a welcome addition to any program. His technique and musical interpretation were tested to any at his appearance in the trying and difficult number.

Banquet at R. M. I.

The program of the 1923 Thanksgiving banquet at Randolph-Macon Institute, which was held last night, was a happy occasion for all who were privileged to be present.

The order of entertainment and the program presented was in charge by the members of the senior class who occupied the center table in the dining room where amidst a throng of visitors, teachers and students, they kept the waves of laughter spreading from table to table and finding expression in original toasts, songs and speeches. The dinner itself was a real turkey-dinner with all the accompaniments. Each table was decorated in the national colors, carried out in flags, candles and Richmond roses. Flags of the thirteen original states were placed at intervals about the hall. The senior class, in Colonial costumes, of which the senior class, gave the following after dinner toasts:

"The Gift of Cordiality"—

Miss Lillian Richmond.

"The Colonial Douray"—

Miss Ida Fitzgerald.

"Whalebone and Gay Brocade"—

Miss Jennie Wood.

"The Minuet and Reel"—

Catherine Harwell.

"Southern Melodist"—

Elizabeth Owens.

"Romance"—

Miss Hazel Russell.

These toasts were responded to by Charles G. Evans, principal of the school, and Dr. Samuel T. Senter. A particularly attractive feature of the program were the toasts in song arranged by the different classes, assisted by Miss Madeline Moore.

In the conclusion of the program, Herbert Martin led the guests in a rousing yell for the senior class of 1923 and R. M. I. Every one was then invited to the chapel where the table of unity plays were given by pupils of Miss Pansie Wood.

STORY OF THE SORROWING MOTHER

By STEVE HANNAGAN

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 30.—"I'd have choked him to death then had I been thought," would grow up to be a gunman," wailed Mrs. Dora Diamond as she pointed to a baby picture of her son, Morris Barlow Diamond, taken when he was three months old.

Morris, 27, and his brother, Joseph, 21, are in jail charged with murder in connection with the shooting to death of two bank messengers and escaping with $43,000.

Six other suspects have been taken by the police who expect to round up a big gang.

Mrs. Diamond sobbed hysterically, beating her head with her closed fists, her black hair streaked with silver, turning gray with grief as one looked on.

"They were both such fine boys," she sobbed. "Never a night passed but Morris would come and tug at the covers around me as I lay in bed. And how Joseph used to smother me with his kisses! Those boys couldn't have taken another man's life."

Solemnly, with perfect intonation she unraveled incidents of their childhood climaxing them in a picture of her sons behind prison bars. Then she broke down.

"Where is my daddy?" Innocently asks five-year-old David, motherless son of Maurice.

But none will tell him the truth.

David is a bright little chap with blue eyes and blonde hair. He was well-mannered and noiseless as he played with his toys.

"Morris was just like that when he was his age," said David's grandmother. "The son is a replica of his father—can you imagine a sweet boy like that growing to be a killer?"

There are four sisters in the Diamond family. Two of them are strikingly pretty.

"We had to resign our positions as soon as our brothers were arrested—and Jane had to stop attending school," said Sally, the eldest.

"Yes, but my friend wrote and told me they did not believe my brothers guilty and to come back," broke in Elizabeth.

"People are so cruel," commented Jane, 16, and popular in high school.

Leona, always sickly, has been confined to her bed since the spark of joy has been replaced with shadows of gloom in the Diamond household in rapidly growing Bensonhurst.

Thanksgiving at Averett College.

The Philomathians and Manoyneus played a match game of basketball in the gymnasium Thursday morning at 10 o'clock which was a very interesting and exciting game to both participants and spectators.

The score was 23 to 30, the game being won by the Philomathians.

At 1:30 p. m. the annual Thanksgiving dinner was served in the large dining room of the college where the tables were arranged to leave an open space in the center of the room where many stunts were performed for the delectation of the diners. Each table was decorated with Thanksgiving style and a truly old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner was served.

In the middle square a log fire burned merrily and at one side a big bonfire was placed.

Many toasts were given between the courses and delightful music was furnished throughout the afternoon.

This annual event has come to be looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by all members of the school and the arrangements being left in the hands of the Literary societies.

County of Loudoun, Va., Thanksgiving style and a truly old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner was served.

MORRIS DIAMOND, HELD ON MURDER CHARGE AND HIS FIVE-YEAR-OLD SON, DAVID, WHO IS THE IMAGINE OF HIS FATHER AT THE SAME AGE.

45 minutes from Broadway.

"Only one month ago I borrowed $1,000 from the West End Bank," said Mrs. Diamond.

Messengers of this bank, just a stone's throw from the Diamond home, were those robbed and killed.

"For 17 years we have lived here and now we are being evicted—about and curiously gazed upon—and all for something I know my boys couldn't have done," said Mrs. Diamond.

She is 52 years old and has been a widow and head of her family for two years.

Morris handsome and athletic, was a football star in high school.

Cups and trophies Morris won as a fancy ballroom dancer adorn the mantle in the comfortably furnished and happy home until misfortune wrought havoc.

"A man who has any knowledge of a murder, or is suspected of it in New York, has two paths to follow. He can take his chance with the electric chair—or 'squeal'—be called 'a rat' and be murdered when he is set free. It's death in any case," mused Morris, the eldest of the brothers.

"But I think I'd rather have little Davey grow up to know that his dad was murdered by a revengeful gangster's gun than to have him learn that I was electrocuted."

Joseph, tall, dark and 21 was silent.

Now wouldn't it?"

"Yes, I think it would, Leslie," said Ruth. "Jack is very fond of his friends and very loyal to them. Perhaps that is the solution to the whole business, but you know very well how hard it is to stop the gossip's mouths and they just love to talk about this picture. I think the only way for you and Jack to stop this is for you to go and see the picture together."

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

"I don't mean anything in particular," said Ruth evasively, except that every man has to do this when his wife has money of her own. You know very well, my dear, that if you had an assured income without going back to your father you would tell Jack all about your pearls and if he didn't like it you would say, 'I'll take my baby and get out.'"

"Speaking of babies, Leslie, did you ask Jack to go with us to that moving picture tonight?"

"Yes, but he said he thought he would be too busy to go."

"Well you tell him for me, Leslie, that because of the coincidence of little Jack being left before you and Paula Prior's picture which has to do with a child being left at the door of two young people, all Albany is agog with gossip."

"What kind of gossip, Ruth? What are they saying?"

"Just what Mrs. Smithson intimated to you. That the child is John's. Forgive me, Leslie, for being so brutal. As a rule, I do not believe in relating this kind of thing, but this story has gotten to such a point that somebody must squelch it."

"Surely you don't believe it is true, Ruth?"

"As far as I am concerned I don't know anything about it, Leslie, and if you leave it to me I don't think it matters. Little Jack has been in your house for months. He has grown into your heart. He is yours legally. No one can take him from you and the sooner you stop conjecturing with his parents are, the happier you will be."

"I have been conjecturing quite a little, Ruth, and I have almost come to the decision that the child belongs to Sydney Carton."

"Good Lord! What makes you think that?" Ruth's tone was curiously eager.

"Well, you know that Sydney very seldom comes to see me. He has made the baby some very wonderful presents and when he does come here he acts so queerly about him. He sits and looks at him as though he were trying to find a resemblance to someone and I think it is a resemblance to himself. He acted very odd the day of the christening. Tewe, Conscious, Said to Accuse Mahaffey Suspect the hammer. It was learned that on account of the serious condition of Tewe, Mahaffey would be taken to Edmunds Hospital sometime this afternoon, probably at about three o'clock, and that he would be taken into the room where Tewe is lying and that the injured man would be asked to repeat the statement he is alleged to have made this morning which is said to incriminate Mahaffey. Police Magistrate L. S. Pitts has authorized that this be done, declaring that it is the proper procedure in such a case. Should Tewe make this statement in the hall, and in the event of his death, it would be admissible evidence in an ante-mortem statement in court should the injured man succumb. Should he recover, it would afford a basis for a formal charge of felonious assault on the part of the holding of Mahaffey/Junior Tewe is able to appear as a witness.

The Schofield officers last night said that they had been unable to find a eyewitness to the blow which fell on Tewe. Today it was reliably reported that the police were expected to develop the identity of at least one person who saw the blow which felled him.

Despite protestations of innocence, Mahaffey, who is a married man living on Lee street, Schoolfield, and who came here about six years ago from Alabama, was lodged in the suspect in view of alleged ill feeling between the two men.

The suspect was seen in jail yesterday. He talked freely and declared that he was in jail because he was the man who had been with Tewe before he was discovered in the hospital. He denied having struck Tewe a blow but on being questioned he admitted that during the course of his short association with Tewe—a period of three weeks—some ill feeling had been engendered. Mahaffey, a loom fixer, employed in that section of the weaver-shed where Tewe had his set of looms stated he had been told that Tewe had complained to the second hand of his work and had declared that he was "not keeping up his end." The suspect said that yesterday morning he fixed Tewe's looms and was one distance away when he was called by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Haynes, who ran a set of looms adjoining Tewe's. They had come across the body of Tewe lying beside one of his machines, all of which were running. Help was called and the suspect, who was the medical examiner and health officer for the mills, hastened to examine the unconscious man. He had an ugly wound above the temple and he was unable to find a fracture was discovered.

Mahaffey stated that he had told the officers that he was guilty but in view of the circumstances, together with reports of the hospital, that two men he was taken into custody and removed to the jail. The suspect denies having words with Tewe yesterday.

The suspect was asked by the reporter if in his opinion he thought that the blow on Tewe's head could have been done by a running loom. The loom fixer replied that he thought it possible that the injury could have been so inflicted. One section of the loom springs heavily to and fro every time the picker stick sends the shuttle through the warp. This swinging motion has a play of about eight inches and, Mahaffey stated, it is possible, in his opinion, for Tewe to have received the blow from that section of the loom in motion when the operative to have had his head close enough to it.

A check-up of Mahaffey's opinion as to the possibility of Tewe being hurt by one of the looms among men who have had experience in the mills brought about a difference of opinion. Some operatives declared that it was not infrequent for a loom running badly to eject the hardwood shuttle, the end of which comes to a blunt point and the nose of which is steel—these sometimes flying through the air like a projectile. Some said that a blow from one of these would cause an injury similar to that sustained by Tewe who has a flattened place on his skull about the size of a hammer head and approximately the same size as a projectile. Others said that a flying shuttle would not fracture a man's skull. A majority of men who have operated looms said that they did not think that the head cap of a loom could do the damage done to Tewe.

Tewe was reported at the hospital today to have passed a fairly comfortable night and that his condition was improved. Dr. Crumpler was reached this afternoon and he also stated that his condition seemed to be "pretty good" but that it was yet too early to determine what the outcome would be. The patient recovered consciousness during the night and it was in Dr. Crumpler's presence that a statement was made which is understood to seriously involve Mahaffey. Dr. Crumpler declined to discuss this phase of the matter feeling that it was improper for him to disclose what the man had said.

Dr. Crumpler in describing the wound on Tewe's head stated that the fracture was so apparent that it was not necessary to undertake an X-ray examination. A hole has been knocked in Tewe's head by a blunt instrument, this completely penetrating the skull, some of the brain matter having emerged from the hole. The physician explained, was the complication on through infection or meningitis. Asked if he thought that a shuttle from a loom could cause a man to that extent Dr. Crumpler gave a negative opinion declaring that he had treated several such injuries. He did not believe that a shuttle would crack a man's skull and penetrate the brain. He could not say what instrument had been used.

Major George T. Ritten, commonwealth's attorney of Pittsylvania, was expected here this afternoon to undertake a personal investigation of the affair. He planned to be present when Mahaffey is taken to Tewe's bedside in the hospital where it is anticipated he will repeat the statement made in the presence of his attending physicians.

Roosevelt Spurns Support of Klan

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The support of the Ku Klux Klan in his candidacy for governor of New York was spurned in a letter from Theodore Roosevelt to the National Association of the Advancement of Colored People, made public today. The association has asked Mr. Roosevelt if the recent report that the Klan had endorsed him was true.

"I have not heard one thing about the Klan endorsing me," Mr. Roosevelt said. "I cannot conceive it is so because I came out flat footed against them in a public speech on Lincoln's birthday last year. The fundamental principle of Americanism that men should be judged as men and that no exception should be raised as to race or religion."

THANKSGIVING AT HILL TOP

Hill Top Sanatorium was open to visitors all day yesterday and the patients enjoyed seeing friends. Many baskets of fruit were sent in by the neighbors, which were greatly appreciated.

Percy Townes Is Not Badly Hurt Will Soon Be Out

Advices from the Wesley Long hospital in Greensboro, N. C., where Percy J. Townes of this city was carried yesterday evening following an automobile accident, were more reassuring this morning. The physician in charge said that Mr. Townes passed a comparatively good night and that examination had revealed neither broken bones nor internal injuries. It was said that he would in all probability be discharged from the institution within the next day or two. The physician said that the patient was suffering from painful bruises about the back and a general wrenching of the muscular system as result of being thrown about the sedan car he was driving when it rolled over several times down a steep foot embankment near Mebane, N. C. H. L. Fitzgerald who was in the car with Townes, escaped with bruises and a severe shaking up.

The two men left Danville early yesterday afternoon intending to motor to Durham to attend a dance. About dusk they were near Mebane the drizzling rain having made the road surface treacherous. According to the physician, the accident, they were proceeding along the road when another car, coming in an opposite direction with bright lights, confused Townes who was driving the Dodge sedan and he applied his brakes. The car skidded, left the road and turned over. It is said half a dozen times, Fitzgerald crawled out and soon found that Townes was unconscious. The first car to pass by was driven by Walter Anderson, of Greensboro, who stopped and helped him. It was feared at first that his back had been broken. The injured man was placed on Anderson's car and was taken to Mebane first and then on to the Greensboro hospital.

Hall Secured For Geraldine Farrar

(By The Associated Press.) ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 30.—Geraldine Farrar will sing in Atlanta tonight in the city auditorium. With the doors of two city church auditoriums closed to her, she appeared on the stage last night that the diva would be forced to make good her promise to sing in the streets in order not to disappoint an Atlanta audience.

Miss Farrar appeared in Atlanta three years ago in "Zaza." Her acting in that performance three years ago "made it impossible for a church to permit the use of its facilities for her appearance in concert," according to a formal statement issued by Dr. John W. Hunt, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, in which he announced that she could not appear in his church's auditorium.

Haywood Asked For His Opinion In the Craig Case

(By The Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—U. S. Attorney William Haywood has been asked to forward to the Department of Justice at the earliest possible moment his recommendation of the case of Comptroller Charles I. Craig, who has been sentenced to sixty days in jail by federal Judge Mayer for contempt of court. Mr. Haywood said he would confer with Judge Mayer before making his report. Application for a presidential pardon for Craig has been made by Senator Copeland, although he has refused to take such a step himself.

Social Butterflies of Chicago Give Up Big Times For Politics

(By J. P. YODER. (Copyright, 1923, by The Bee.) CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Chicago's most exclusive and sought-after celebrities—and the crop wasn't too big anyhow—have just about given up dances, teas and bridge for politics, and social leaders and the mail contingent of Chicago's best families, who for years have been the most conventional of sticklers for social usage, which says that the deb should be a deb when she is a deb, are in despair.

If the telephone wires could be tapped today, you'd hear many a conversation like this: "That you Katherine? I say we'll be going to the dinner and dance to-night, of course." And the reply: "Sorry Jack, but the First Voters League meets tonight, so I won't be with you. Have a good time, old thing."

These young women are so earnest about it all that the Prince of Wales were to be honored or the week-ly-get-together they would pass that handsome young gulfstream monarch up to hear a talk on government economies, duties of the citizen, or why women eligible should wield the ballot.

If you don't believe there are serious—well there are some six or eight

Siki Back From Spree, Penitent; Had Wild Time

(By The Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Battling Siki, penitent and broke, has returned from his first spree in America, during which he borrowed $1,000 spending money from his manager, Robert Moe Levy, played Coal Oil Johnny to a crowd of Harlem admirers and escaped to the wilds of New Jersey.

The battler returned to the fold two nights ago but Robert Moe kept him in the house until today when the singular one promised to be good and not to give away more than a dime at a time. He was throwing fifty dollars in a sea of clutching black hands when Robert Moe found him in Harlem the other night.

"Think of it," said Robert Moe today, "when he comes back from that foolish runaway he has only $3.37 in his pockets. And a whole thousand I give him. He said he thought they were German marks, but I have educated him."

Police Combining Twenty Cities For Murderers

(By The Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—With a score of detectives combining 20 cities of this country and Canada, police expect the early apprehension of the actual slayers of the two West End black messengers who were shot and robbed of $4,000 in a Brooklyn subway station two weeks ago.

Acting on information given by Barlow Morris Diamond, his brother Joseph and Anthony J. Pantano, all implicated in the crime, officers yesterday extended their search for the two men accused by the eight suspect—under arrest, of doing the shooting and a third, who is said to have driven the murder car in which the slayers escaped. Two detectives went to Toronto while others followed trails to cities in this country suggested by the Diamond brothers.

Good Morning Judge!

An averaged size docket was disposed of this morning in the police court. Only seven drunks were dealt with over the holidays, which usually nets many more. Only one was disorderly. This was James Hull, colored, who drew an additional $5 on the usual $11 and costs, making $16 and costs.

Sam Hall, colored, charged with trespassing on the Danville Creamery company with intent to rob, was arraigned. His case was continued.

Fletcher Seals, colored, was fined $10 and costs for not having proper lights in his machine.

Artie Ashby drew a fine $5 and costs on a charge of creating a disturbance in a local restaurant.

A fine of $5 and costs was imposed on John Henry Stokes for not having a chauffeur's license and an additional $1 and costs for not having a permit to drive.

Mary Tucker, colored, was sentenced to serve thirty days in jail and was fined $51 and costs on a charge of violating the Mapp liquor law.

Frederic Holderby is alleged to have exceeded the speed limit and was assessed $21 and costs.

Drinks 30 Bottles of Soda; Eats Three Pies at One Meal

A new long distance eating record was made here yesterday when William Richardson, a negro, better known to his associates as "Lobster" was consumed 30 bottles of soda water and ate three pies at one session, for a wager. The gourmandizing feat was undertaken successfully at a creek restaurant with Lobster none the worse for the undertaking. The wager, it is said, provided the kind friends would pay the bill if he could accomplish the feat, otherwise Lobster would have to defray the expenses himself.

The first ten bottles of pop were consumed without any undue effort. A pie went the same route, followed by another. After 10 more bottles of pop and one more pie the Lobster's suspenders started to crack ominously and he began to assume the proportions of a miniature balloon.

Lobster finished the job however and to show that he was a man of real capacity he called for a bottle of beer and a cup of coffee. "Jack" the entrepreneur of the establishment surveyed the rotund form of his patron with some misgivings and refused to serve him with the additional liquids having no desire to appear as a witness at a coroner's inquest.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—William Harcourt King, known for nearly 40 years on the stage as William Harcourt, died today at the age of 57. He was stricken with apoplexy Monday night.

Third Payment Not the Last Says Watkins

A further assurance that the third payment on last year's tobacco crop will not be the final settlement by the Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Marketing Association with grower-members has been given by Tucker Watkins of South Boston, who is quoted in a recent letter as saying with reference to the third payment:

"This will not be all the grower-members will get for his 1922 crop," the letter says, "for we will wind up this crop with a fourth payment. We are going to make this payment just as soon as we can get the necessary clerical work done in this office, and we are going to do everything in our power to get it done quickly, for we realize that the members need their money. We are doing all we can do to rush it to completion."

"Dick" Patterson is also quoted as having given the following summary on recent sales by the Association: "One thousand hogheads of the 1922 crop ('D') sold for 49 cents a pound.

"Three thousand five hundred hogheads of South Carolina, 1923 crop tobacco, sold for 33 cents a pound.

"Thirteen and one-half million pounds of new and old crop tobacco sold recently.

"Forty per cent. of the South Carolina new crop sold.

"Thirty-three and one-third per cent. of the eastern North Carolina new crop recently sold.

"Twenty-five per cent. of the 1924 Old Belt crop received and sold."

SCREEN ACTRESS SUCCOMBS (By The Associated Press.) SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 30.—Martha Mansfield, motion picture star, died here at noon today as a result of burns received while she was "on location" here Thursday afternoon.

Miss Mansfield received the burns when a flimsy dress she was wearing became ignited, enveloping the lower portion of her body in flames.

—Miss Martha Marshall Browder who underwent a tonsil and adenoid operation yesterday morning is doing nicely.

MAXWELL HEAD RESIGNS

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—William R. Wilson, president of the Maxwell Motor Corporation, yesterday presented his resignation to the board of directors. The resignation was accepted. LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautiful, dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair. Well-known druggists say it darkens the hair naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, leaving one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.—adv.

By BOB DORMAN
BOSTON, Nov. 30.—Would you be successful? Then you had better keep a weather-eye on the scales—make sure that your waistline is still where it used to be.

"The lean horse for the long race holds as true of persons in the race of life as it does on the track," says Dr. Joel E. Goldthwait, noted New England physician who was a colonel in the Medical Corps with the first A. E. F. troops.

"It was not by chance that 'Uncle Sam' was depicted as a long, lanky person," says Dr. Goldthwait, "he is the true American type the type that has made America the most progressive and prosperous nation in the world."

Look at President Coolidge, Henry Ford, Woodrow Wilson, John D. Rockefeller, Charlie Chaplin and Bill Tilden, the tennis champ.

"All are leaders in their lines—and all are skinny."

"Not that the human race doesn't need the stout person—they are the stabilizers, the conservatives, the matter-of-fact men who work out in detail the visionary dreams of their more slender brethren."

"But the slender type is the pioneer, the radical, the progressive—the man who dreams dreams—who has the vision of things to come, the nervous force and energy to plan great things."

"But great as America is, she could be much greater if her people were to pay more attention to their physical well-being."

We are too prone to consider our body as a machine that will run without attention, as long as we supply it with fuel and water.

"It's not until something goes wrong with the mechanism that we call in the mechanic to fix up the trouble."

"We should learn to keep the body fit, and use it rightly. To do that we should make it a point to learn something of the mechanism that is bequeathed us."

"The average man will take more care of his automobile than he will

of his body—yet the body is the far more important to him.

"We can't all be thin, nor is it good that we should be."

"But we can all be sure that we do not put on any excess weight over and above what nature intended that we should have."

CHIEF JUSTICE TAFT

"We want to remember that for every excess pound we add, we take away that much from our energy and aggressiveness, for fat makes for slowness and sloth."

All of which must give Chief Justice William Howard Taft a good laugh.

Chances Made By Teachers Source of Economic Loss

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 29.—The changing of teachers from school to school is a hindrance to progress and a source of financial and economic loss, the school leaders of Virginia were told here tonight by Miss Lulu D. Metz, president of the State Teachers' Association, in speaking before the general session of the educational conference.

"That teachers who change from one school to another every year, or even every other year," said Miss Metz, "cannot do his best work. It takes the greatest part of a session for a conscientious worker to acquaint himself with the community, its problems and its opportunities. The teacher must have time to discover these and adapt himself thoroughly to the needs of the community which he serves. Only thus are the best interests of the state served."

The seven organizations which are combined in the educational conference held famous meetings today for the discussion of school problems in Virginia. The "cost of ignorance" formed the theme for a number of these sessions where ways and means of banishing illiteracy were explained and advocated.

Dr. George D. Strayer of Columbia University, spoke tonight on "can we afford to finance our public school system?"

Those who think only in terms of taxes," he said, "have suggested that we are spending too much money for education. Those who know of the need for public instruction and of the service which it renders to our democracy have pointed out the necessity for greater support. We do well to examine the situation in order to inform ourselves and our public with respect to the cost of our public schools."

Taking into account the larger opportunities given to children, Dr. Strayer declared, and considering the shrinkage in the value of the dollar, "schools today cost very little more than they did more than twenty or thirty years ago. We have not yet reached the limit of necessary school expenditures."

Expenditures for public education," said Dr. Strayer in closing, "are properly thought of as operating to reduce capital which is being constantly used up. If no schools were maintained over a period of a single year, then the effect on the economy of the people would be most disastrous. In the modern industrial society it is quite as important that we provide capital in terms of education as it is that we should build railroads or factories."

"If we believe that the American ideal which suggests that every individual should have an opportunity for making the most of himself and that this is more important than amassing wealth, more important than any other government enterprise, then we shall certainly support our schools."

The Trustees Association today in its concluding session elected the following officers: Dr. T. S. Wilson, Halifax county, president; E. G. McGhee, Farmington, first vice president; J. G. Galloway, Brown county, chairman of steering and legislative committees.

PRISONERS HAVE FINE DINNER ON CITY SERGEANT

Prisoners in the city jail yesterday enjoyed the annual beneficence of City Sergeant Pat H. Boisseau, who for many years has made it a practice to give his wards a Thanksgiving dinner. Following the usual custom a splendid feast was served all of the prisoners, the menu including roast pork and cranberry sauce, baked sweet potatoes, pickle, corn bread, light bread and raisin pudding. The two jailors, Nelson Dixon and Harper Chandler saw to it that Mr. Boisseau's generosity was evenly bestowed and superintended the culinary preparations which began early yesterday morning while the tempting odor of roast pork filled the way through the grim corridors and passages giving the inmates an inkling of what was in store for them. Everybody had plenty and sent messages of gratitude to Mr. Boisseau. This is not the only time of year that Mr. Boisseau thinks of those so unfortunate as to be in jail. Christmas usually finds him prepared to shed a ray of Christmas cheer to the prisoners. An inquiry made from sources which are not officially revealed that the Thanksgiving and the Christmas bounty is no small item for a jail full and constitutes quite an expense, which comes out of Sergeant Boisseau's pocket.

Yesterday morning when police court convened Mayor Wooding expressed readiness to hear cases of those persons locked up overnight and who were eager to secure their release by the payment of fines. Nobody cared to be tried yesterday.

There's a reason.

Thanksgiving Is Widely Observed In New York City

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Many of the city's churches echoed today with appeals for the United States to share more of her blessings with the less fortunate peoples of other lands. This 302 anniversary of the holiday founded by Governor Bradford of Plymouth colony was widely observed. The usual number of churchgoers from the Ghetto Boys in girl-choirs and girls in boys'—played church and gathered pennies among the crowds who thronged the public squares and theatre districts during the day.

Every occupant of a cell feasted on turkey, except for two negro inmates of the Tombs, who asked for chicken and got it. Charitable organizations distributed thousands of baskets to families of the unfortunate, including mothers and children separated from their kin by prison bars.

A Ellis Island nearly 2,000 immigrants were initiated to the mysteries of turkey and cranberry sauce and every bowery and waterfront home was crowded with guest-for-a-day.

Speaking at the church of St. John the Evangelist, the Rev. Dr. John A. Wade denounced the government's domestic and foreign policies as lacking vision, horizon and leadership.

"Oh for one blast of Theodore Roosevelt's trumpet to call his countrymen to their place of leadership," he said, adding that "the only way to ratify the peace treaty, and stand by our sister republics, our growing aloofness from a stricken world, have convinced mankind that we joined the great war not to save democracy but to save our skins," he said.

A plea that President Coolidge sign pardons as Christmas gifts to political prisoners throughout the land was voiced by Professor William Lyon Phelps of Yale University at a union service at Carnegie Hall.

"Personal opinions cannot be squelched by prosecution," he said. "I don't believe it possible for our country or our God to be destroyed by freedom of speech."

Bishop E. G. Richardson of Atlanta declared at Grace Methodist Episcopal church that an American policy of isolation meant national selfishness which would prove calamitous to the world.

Bishop William T. Manning of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, prayed for a less strenuous American life and a more human one. He also appealed for fuller national participation in international affairs.

Babson Gives an Outline of Auto Situation

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Nov. 30.—The outstanding features of the automobile situation are: first heavy but declining production, second declining demand, third fairly stable prices with downward adjustments here and there, fourth keen competition, and fifth general good financial condition of the more important companies, according to a survey made by Roger W. Babson, the statistician, which is summoned up in a statement issued today.

"The production of cars and trucks for the first ten months of this year averaged 307,635 cars and 32,029 trucks per month," says Mr. Babson, "this total output is about 60 per cent less than the output in the corresponding period of 1922. Notwithstanding this heavy rate of production stocks of new cars have apparently not accumulated to a burdensome degree. Sales during the first three-quarters of the year kept pace with production."

"Demand last spring and summer exceeded dealers' expectations and many found themselves without cars large enough to meet the needs of their customers. With this in mind dealers are now inclined to plan on liberal stock for next year. Manufacturers, apparently, are also inclined to look for another heavy increase in sales and are planning on a much larger output."

"The industry has been favorable not only by an unusually strong demand but also by the fact that automobiles are cheaper, relative to pre-war ideas of value, than most other commodities. By reason of the large number of concerns competing for business, and also by reason of the necessity of lower prices in order to appeal to successive buyers, the price has been downward and there is nothing in sight that indicates a change in this trend."

"How long the industry will continue its remarkable growth is difficult to say. The changing ratio in the rate of registration increase, and the increased cost of selling, seem to indicate resistance in expanding the market. It is probable that the more alert manufacturers are continuing to plan on more cheaply made cars in the future in order that they may put prices lower and appeal to larger numbers of people. So long as this tendency proves profitable it is difficult to say when the industry will reach the point where it will be primarily an replacement basis."

"Another important factor is the traffic congestion prevailing in many large cities which is beginning to prove a distinct hindrance to the sale of cars to residents. In some large places it is much more comfortable to walk or to use trolleys, subways or trains. It is feared that this condition may grow to such an extent as to seriously curtail demand and the industry is seeking to have cities plan future street construction so as to give automobile traffic consideration."

"The chief danger in the automobile situation is the tendency of buyers to exceed the safe limit of expenditure. However, so long as consumers can manipulate their budget so as to include automobile expenditure at present levels the industry will continue to expand."

"Present demand for automobiles is exceedingly good when you consider that general business as reflected on the Babson chart is running 7 per cent below normal."

"There is nothing in the action of motor stocks which suggests a different market movement from the list as a whole," continued Mr. Babson. "An average of 13 representative issues, both car and truck, sold at a high, in the spring, of 48, declined to a low last summer of 31 and have rallied to around 37; 7 motor accessory issues from a high of 37 declined to 48 and now maintain a level around 37. All issues used are New York Stock Exchange listed and represent body, wheel, carburetor and similar plants. Tires, however, are not considered. Examining the movements of individual issues in these groups one fails to find any evidence apparently of greater intensity of competition in the popular priced car field than in other departments of activity in the moving trends in the different motor business might seem to suggest such. All however have recovered from 25 to 40 per cent or 50 per cent of their decline."

"Looking back a little further it appears that automobile stocks have very closely followed the trend of the general market since the decline in 1920. It is probably reasonable to assume that they will do so in the future."

HENNIGAN IS WINNER

BERWICK, Pa., Nov. 29.—After trying in vain for six years, James Hennigan, of Medford, Massachusetts, today set the pace from the start and won the annual Berwick Marathon of nine and one-quarter miles in 48 minutes and 25 seconds. Elmar Prim, of New York, finished a hundred yards behind Hennigan.

DAILY PUZZLE

A square-shaped farm contained four houses and four barns, arranged as shown in the drawing. When the farmer died, he left equal shares in the farm to his four sons. Each was to have a house and a barn, and each was to receive a piece of land exactly the same size and shape as the others. How was the farm divided into the four parts: all the same in size and shape, and with a house and barn on each?

(In the drawing, the letter H stands for a house; B for a barn.)

Yesterday's answer:
The five weights were as follows:
1 lb., 2 lb., 4 lb., 8 lb., 16 lb.
With the aid of these can be had from 1 lb. to 63 lb., in steps of 1 lb.
To weigh 1 lb., put the 1 lb. weight on one side of the scale and the 2 lb. weight on the other side with a quantity of oats. Naturally the oats weigh 1 lb. Two pounds are obtained by using the 1 lb. and 2 lb. weights on one side with oats on the other, and so on, either by adding or subtracting, any desired quantity may be weighed.

COOLIDGE MAY BE FORCED TO DELAY MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Chaos in the outlook for organization in both houses of Congress grew to such an extent today, as a result of threats from the radicals and Democrats that no leader would venture a prediction as to when President Coolidge would be able to deliver his annual message to a joint session.

The president, it was stated at the White House, is planning to go to the capitol and deliver his message in person on Wednesday of next week. The radicals, with their grip on the balance of power, are in a position to create a situation by which the president may be forced to withhold delivery of his message for days or weeks, just as has happened several times before in the history of Congress.

Senate Republican leaders held a long conference today in the office of Senator Lodge, hoping to work out a solution of the problem in which Senator Cummins, Republican, Iowa, is the storm center. Among those who were present were Senator Lodge, Republican, Massachusetts; Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah; Senator McCormick, Republican, Illinois; Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire; Senator Curtis, Republican, Kansas; Senator McNary, Republican, Indiana; and Senator Brandegee, Republican, Connecticut. They decided to send a committee to confer with Mr. Cummins and urge him to quit the presidency pro tempore of the Senate and retain the chairmanship of the Interstate Commerce Committee. Senator Lodge, Senator Brandegee and Senator Moses constituted the notification committee.

To their surprise, Senator Cummins, with a display of unexpected firmness, politely informed the committee that he would keep both jobs. He said to them in effect: "There being so much question about the propriety of my keeping two such important places, I have decided to keep both."

The notification committee was so surprised that it did nothing but nod its head apparently in acquiescence. But the key to this puzzling situation in held by Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, leader of the radical bloc, who wants the Interstate Commerce Committee chairmanship now held by Mr. Cummins. Mr. LaFollette has been confined to his home by the "flu" ever since he returned to Washington and efforts of the old guard to learn his plans have been futile.

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, denying that he was spokesman for the radical bloc, expressed the view that the radicals would support Senator Cummins for the presidency pro tempore but predicted that a fight would be made against him for the Interstate Commerce Committee chairmanship.

Democratic leaders predicted that a motion would be made to declare the presidency pro tempore vacant. Such a motion, if successful, would oust Senator Cummins and compel the Senate to proceed to the election of a new president pro-temp.

House radicals, headed by Representative Nelson, Republican, Wisconsin, continued their conference today and appointed a committee to present their demands to the regular Republicans. They want satisfactory committee assignments and liberalized rules. The committee consisted of Representative Nelson, Republican, Wisconsin; Representative LaGuardia, Republican, New York; and Representative Woodruff, Republican, Michigan.

3 ELIGIBLES FOR P. O. AT ABINGDON, VA.

BY GEORGE H. MANNING.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The civil service commission notified the Postoffice Department that the eligibles for appointment as postmaster at Abingdon, Va., resulting from the examination of October 23, are Con T. Rush, Edgar W. Rambo, and John T. McConnell, standing in the order as named. Rambo was given five per cent. preference on account of military service.

The department at once notified the State Chairman, Joseph L. Crupper, and asked him to recommend one of the three for the appointment.

The contest for this office was quite spirited. Eleven candidates took the examination, as follows: Godfrey E. Carricker, Rose Rose, Edgar W. Rambo, Charles E. Cunningham, Charles H. Butt, John T. McConnell, David C. Colley, Con T. Rush, Harmon Pippin, Ralph D. Musick and Joseph Akers. The term of Postmaster Robert M. Cumming expired on August 5th. The job pays $2700 a year.

MORNING COTTON LETTER

Thomson & McKinnon

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Wednesday's market was a semi-bear panic and trade continued to absorb all offerings. Owing to continued demand for the actual—which is the backbone of advancing prices—see no indication for lower prices. MORNING STOCK LETTER

Thomson & McKinnon

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Merrill dividends roll in. The difference between the end of the year and the beginning of the year is that it is cash, then it was more stock. Quite a difference.

There is an item in this morning's papers. You have no doubt noticed it. It tells about the amount of savings in our banks. Cut it out for future reference and the first time you catch yourself slipping, when you feel blue and think this country is going to pieces, then take this little piece of paper and look at it again. Over 18,000,000,000 savings in the banks and over a billion of them was added in the year ending June 30. Talk about a prosperous nation! There was never anything like it in the history of the world.

The plans seems to be complete for helping Hungary as they helped Austria. This is real progress.

And yesterday morning world I read one of the best things in months. It is a cable which starts out with these startling words: "Com-promise is in the air."

This is neither the time nor place for a bear.

"Twins" Who've Never Grown

BRIGHTEN, Eng.—For more than ten years a young woman has been wheeling her "twins" along the front here daily. Neighbors wondered why they never grew up. Now the secret is out. They are dolls. And they satisfy, in some measure, the young woman's longing for kiddies of her own. Every day she washes their dainty dresses. Every meal, they sit in high chairs at her table. Once she was engaged to be married. She broke off her engagement when she remembered a vow to remain with her widowed mother. The desire for children persisted, however, and she bought the dolls. Ever since she has lavished a mother's care upon them.

Queen of Beauties Crowned As Such by Rodolph Valentino

Toronto Girl, 16, Adjudged America's Most Beautiful Girl, Vindicating Her Faith in Fairies.

By ROWLAND WOOD.

(Copyright, 1923, by The Bee)

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Sixteen-year-old Norma Niblock, of Toronto, Ont., had a great deal to be thankful for when she awoke yesterday in the regal beauty suite of the Waldorf-Astoria today.

To begin with, she had had a perfectly gorgeous week in New York and Washington, with special trains, private automobiles, theatres, parties, an everything.

In the second place, the memory was still poignantly fresh of being adjudged, "most beautiful girl in America" and being so crowned before an admiring crowd of thousands by no less a heart crusher than Rodolph Valentino. Over there on the dressing table, with the sun glistening on them, were the silver crown and a gigantic silver-loving cup to prove it.

In the third place, she had been offered an opportunity to go on the stage—to lead sixteen beauties in a big time vaudeville act.

But best of all, Norma's faith in fairies had been vindicated.

For it was a Cinderella affair right straight thru—this national beauty contest (it should have been called international) which Norma won Wednesday night in Madison Square Garden.

In the first place, picture little Norma sitting by her Canadian fireside, thinking about the world of beauty and romance outside.

Fairy godmother waves her wand, and off Norma rides in a perfectly gorgeous pumpkin of a Pullman for New York and the midnight "ball at the Garden."

Perhaps there was a bit of misgiving in Norma's heart when she got to the ball, for her fairy god mother had sent her attired in just a little street dress of blue, with sleeves and sash of multi-colored silk, whereas all the other eighty-seven varieties of dress had come dressed in the most gorgeous of sleeveless and decollete evening gowns. But around and around the big stage the beauties paraded and more and more the eyes of the hundred judges began to stray from all the other beautiful confectio-nations to the simpler beauty of little Norma.

The contest narrowed down to twenty-six super-beauties, then to nine—and Norma was still there. Then, when the loveliest of the lovely piquetted out for the last review, the fairy godmother sprinkled a little star dust in Norma's raven curls and brushed the color of a red rose across her cheeks—and the judges could see nobody else. She won hands down and they led her out at the head of a process of five, seated her on the throne of beauty and brought her—Rodolph!

While the thousands fought for places near the stage, Rodolph bent the knee before her and placed the beauty crown on her head. Then he filled her arms full of American beauty roses. Then he pressed her hand and gave her his most adorable smile. And all the while, the movies were grinding out the scene of her triumph, while radio broadcasters were telling the anxious home-folks in eighty-eight cities that little Norma had won. You'd think that was triumph enough for one evening. But no—somebody got up and announced that the winner and her sixteen closest rivals had been offered a vaudeville contract.

Just then the chimes in the metropolitan tower struck midnight, but Cinderella-Norma's triumph didn't vanish even momentarily. Of course, Prince Charming-Rodolph didn't ask her to marry him—it wouldn't have been right under the circumstances. But you can be perfectly sure that a lot of other prices charming will. They always do after a beauty show. Oh yes, the other four prize winners were: Miss Los Angeles, alias Eileen Gillbert; Miss New York, alias Reba Owen; Miss Baltimore, alias Mildred Adam; and Miss Wichita, alias Gloria Heller.

Blondes, by the way, were sorely in the running at all. Only two out of a score or so reached the semi-finals.

NEW YORK COTTON.

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The cotton market was even more active and excited during today's early trading than it had been on the advance, which preceded the holiday. Strength of Liverpool over Thanksgiving day, combined with a report from a southwestern firm estimating the crop at only 9,397, bales and bullish Bombay advices were the news features on an opening advance of 28 to 61 points on all months except September which was 15 points lower. Heavy realizing was encountered at 37.70 for December and 37.11 for March but Liverpool trade interest and commission houses were big buyers and early offerings were absorbed on reactions of about 15 to 30 points.

December	37.70 to 37.70
January	37.00 to 36.88
March	37.00 to 37.07
May	37.12 to 37.23
July	36.30 to 36.51

NEW YORK STOCKS.

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Opening prices in today's stock market were mostly irregular. Little indication as to the trend of sentiment. Maxwell A. again appeared to be in supply, dropping 1-1/4 in the first transaction. Davidson Chemical advanced 1-1/4. Fluctuations either way became more extensive with a continuance of the recent buying in several of Western's strong issues, notably American International and few railroads. Selling orders however, were abundant in other quarters. Gulf States Steel dropping 3-1/4, United States Cast Iron Pipe 2-1/4, and Maxwell Motors A 2-3/4. Omaha, New Orleans, Texas and Mexico, Lehigh Valley, Virginia Carolina Chemical, pfd. Royal Dutch and Market Street Railway second pfd., and post preferred were lifted one to two points. Jones & Laughlin dropped 2 points to 25 duplicating its previous low of 27.

Foreign exchanges opened irregular.

Ehmke for Shocker Latest Trade Gossip

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—A deal between the Boston Red Sox and the St. Louis Browns, involving Fletcher Howard Ehmke and Cuban Shocker, is a possibility at the coming American League meeting in Chicago. It is understood that such a transaction has already received serious consideration by both clubs.

Shocker, who was suspended by the St. Louis club near the close of the season, because he insisted on taking his wife on the last eastern trip after the club had said no, insists that he will never play another game with the Browns. Shocker is of the determined type, just the style that would go through with the threat.

Shocker, when dissatisfied is of no value. That is his frame of mind at present. He has expressed a desire to play under his former manager, Lee Fohl, at Boston. Fohl, who knows the great value of Shocker as a pitcher, is more than anxious to get him. Under Fohl, Shocker did his best work. It is said that the St. Louis club would be willing to part with Shocker if it could have Howard Ehmke in return.

Ehmke, his great work with Boston last year, is a popular favorite with the fans. To tempt fate and trade him for another pitcher who might not deliver would be taking a long chance. However, the trade is more than a mere possibility.

Many Jobless Men and Boys Found Living In Caves

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ
(By Chicago Tribune Service)

PASEWALK, Pomerania, Prussia, Nov. 29. (Radio)—A camp of jobless men and boys living in caves near Pasewalk were discovered today.

The police found several scores of hungry, freezing and sick workers who had been discharged by their employers on account of the high price of food concentrated in a dozen rude dugouts a short distance from here, which is fifty miles north of Berlin.

These miserable men had been existing upon what vegetables they could pick up in the fields and what wild animals they could kill.

The police forced them to evacuate this camp and retreat into Pasewalk, where some kind folk will give them shelter but the people cannot shelter them all. Throughout this district discharged farm hands are being made their way to Berlin in the hope of finding food, while the city jobless are marching to the country.

The two groups in different directions pass each other and tell their stories, but invariably they keep on their courses, undisturbed by what they hear.

The farmers in Brandenburg have organized their farm hands to fight off raiders.

A train leaving Berlin this morning for Mark, Brandenburg and neighboring districts, was crammed with jobless with empty sacks on their backs, for searching vainly in most cases, for any kind for paper marks. These jobless often form mobs, which develop an ugly spirit after being refused food, so that the farmers are being forced to protect themselves and their farms in some way.

The mobs frequently threaten some lonely farmer and his wife with death when they are refused to sell food to those people? The Tribune correspondent asked Heinrich Stollbert, a farmer near Frankfurt tomorrow for those who have marks now I may starve next Spring before the new crop is ready." Herr Stollbert declared vigorously, "I do not need cash money. I buy shoes and agricultural instruments for so many hundredweight of rye and lose nothing by this system of barter. If I accept paper marks they will depreciate before I am able to reach town and then the shopkeepers will not give me full value."

"Those workmen you see coming out into the country begging and pretending to buy with a few bad marks are only the scum of the earth. If we don't give them something they steal. They could work if they wanted to."

It is entirely true that the farmers and town shoppers have created a system of barter which has largely replaced the use of paper marks. The farmers are willing to accept the German gold loan of German dollars, but they are not in general circulation.

The average small farmer places all his grain in a nearby town and house and simply sells a few hundredweight as he needs something. He can buy piano lessons for his children as well as a new suit of clothes or furniture.

The Tribune correspondent visited three classes of farmers in the province of Brandenburg—the big junker farmers, who have abandoned everything for the middle class farmers, who have farms of fifty acres and several horses and cows and comparative abundance, the largest class of really poor farmers, who have from ten to fifteen acres, one or two cows and a dozen chickens.

The Haus frau of these poor farmers cannot serve a much better menu to her family than the poor Haus frau of the town working men.

At one of these poorer farms near Koenigs Swastenberg east of Berlin, I found the family eating potatoes boiled in their skins and served with flour sauce and nothing else.

The Haus frau explained that on days of hard labor she also served half a herring to everyone and every day cooked a piece of fat bacon with potatoes for the evening meal.

There is a big difference between these country poor people and the city poor. In fact, the poor farmers have some bacon and other food hidden away, which they can eat if a mood of extravagance seizes them.

Most of these poor farmers are forced to work the greater part of the day to fill out the family income, and his family is forced to work for the horse-owning neighbor farmers in return for a loan of a horse for a few days.

If these poor farmers produce milk and butter they sell it to the rich city people and buy margarine themselves. The jobless raiders save up most of their wrath for the junkers and middle class farmers, who have now started to drive them off farms without any parley whatever.

One of the old customs throughout Germany is that when grain is sown and potatoes dug the poor people are allowed to glean what they can from the fields, but the junkers now are so angry over the thieving and raiding of the jobless that they drive them off and leave the few stray potatoes freeze on the ground.

ACTIVITIES OF QUACK DOCTORS BEING PROBED

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 29.—George Sutcliffe, erstwhile St. Louis photographer, whose claims as a competent physician and surgeon led to the death of Albert C. Hoody, war veteran, by etherization on Sutcliffe's operating table on May 22 last while his amputation was being attempted, was brought today before the Connecticut grand jury, which is investigating the large number of deaths from medical quackery in this state. Sutcliffe and his brother-in-law, M. H. Dubs, of the Knickerbocker Hotel, Albany, were met at the jail and escorted before the grand jury by County Detective Hickey.

Sutcliffe, who confessed to Governor William B. Hodge and other state officials that he had killed Hoody and then in vain sought to bring him back to life, was brought back to tell the grand jury of his knowledge of the medical quackery in this state. Sutcliffe and his brother-in-law, M. H. Dubs, of the Knickerbocker Hotel, Albany, were met at the jail and escorted before the grand jury by County Detective Hickey.

In response to the many subpoenas that have been sent out a considerable number of men came to the courthouse today, bringing their diplomas and state licenses which were taken for examination by the grand jury. The inquiry will be continued tomorrow.

George Hanrahan, an attorney of Unionville, who was present in the jury room, said that he had not been actually retained as counsel for Sutcliffe, who had been sought on a charge of manslaughter, but admitted that he had discussed the Hoody case with Sutcliffe and Dubs.

This Little World

By GEORGE BRITT
(By Chicago Tribune Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. After the old loved general merchandise emporium, the department store, after the department store, the skyscraper shops building. So moves the art of merchandising.

Not less than a dozen buildings in the Loop, some of them as tall as the limit, are given over to small retailers selling anything from bric-a-brac and jewelry to imported goods.

Skyscrapers may be, as a London visitor charged, disagreeable, inexcusable, "vertical slum districts." But the shops buildings are gorgeously appointed slums. Somehow, they manage to pull business upstairs.

When it comes to stubbornness, credit the canary hereafter and forget the mule. Two pet canaries fluted from home on the South Side and perched on a live trolley wire. Their owner pursued, coaxing them with words, whistles and a banquet of small grain. A car halted while the motorman threw stones. The canaries balked. Other cars stopped behind the first. Traffic was tied up for half an hour. Ten their birdships condescended to return home after being brushed off the wire by a pole.

If the ghosts of Chicago's first cityzens, the Pottawatomi Indians, should return today, about the only familiar sight would be the little canvas tepees which gas and electric company workers erect over uncovered manholes. These tents, guarded by red flags, protect the workers below and warn street traffic from the opening. There was a mysterious raid on the supply once, solved by finding a boy's encampment on a vacant lot.

Grand Opera for more than 15 years has been the absorbing life interest of Roy Jeffers, former cavalry trooper and now boss carpenter at the auditorium. But opera to him doesn't mean music. It means stage properties, curtains, borders and sets. It means getting "Drop B" in the position marked "B" in his diagram.

"What do you think of it, Jeff?" inquired an opera company official as he stood in a wing listening to a thrilling rehearsal by Mme. Homer. "What of what?" inquired Jeff, and then he followed his questioner's eyes. "Oh, I never hear anything. I don't care whether they sing bass or alto."

Jeff in all his years never has failed to have a set in place. These singers don't have any hypnotic effect on him.

MISSIONARY, A CAPTIVE, IS BUSY BAPTIZING MEN

BY CHARLES DAILY
(By Chicago Tribune Service)

PEKING, Nov. 29.—Father Frederick, a French missionary who is held a captive by Shantung outlaws, has begged the national troops to discontinue their attacks begun for his rescue because he is busy baptizing his bandit captors. However, the bandits are still insisting on enrollment in the national army.

The bandit dangers along the Tientsin-Pukow railway are increasing. To the menace machine guns have been installed on the through Shanghai-Peking express while special mobile forces have been placed at Tachow, Yangchow and Fengtu stations.

The American Legation is unable to obtain further word of Dr. Elmer W. Schmalzried, an American missionary, who was captured in Kwelchow province on Nov. 13.

The railway station master, captured when the Peking-Hankow express was attacked in Honan province on October 22 was released when his family paid his ransom.

LOVE OF COFFEE LEADS TO DEATH OF BOY AGED 4

PATCHOGUE, L. I., Nov. 29.

Love of coffee led to the death of James Gallo, four son of Mr. and Mrs. Santo Gallo, of Patchogue. The boy begged for coffee at supper Saturday night. His mother refused because of his age. He then ran to the stove, tilted the coffee pot and tried to drink from the spout.

His throat was severely scalded that Dr. John Bennett took him to a hospital and inserted a silver tube so he could breathe. This kept him alive until today.

Germany Makes Military Plans

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The newspapers this morning are devoting considerable attention to a news item sent out by Reuters dealing with military preparations in Germany. Information concerning which the news agency says has reached the British government. The article declares the British are concerned over the situation and its bearing on the peace of Europe. The foreign office, in a statement, however, says the information given out should not be attributed to any official authority.

"Disturbing information concerning the extent to which Germany is re-arming and re-arming has been received by the British government," says the Reuters article. "Although the view is taken officially that the information reveals potential rather than imminent dangers, the British authorities are frankly concerned over the situation and its bearing on the peace of Europe."

"It is known that rapid military training of large numbers of men in excess of the Versailles treaty stipulations has been progressing. This, it is declared, is more than ever the case since the allied military control ceased nearly a year ago. Recruiting has been especially active in Bavaria, where the security police have engaged in maneuvers with the army. The training of students also is in constant progress. Hitherto all attempts to induce Germany to produce recruiting returns in order to enable the allies to check up the paper strength of the German army at any given moment of inspection with the number of recruits actually trained has been unsuccessful."

"Recent information from British observers in Germany shows that more men than ever are being trained, and that the police and military societies, the regimental associations and the student organizations all are bigger than ever. British officials here, however, feel that Germany is not able at present to arm the large number of men she is training, in the event of mobilization, with the necessary artillery, owing to the French being in possession of her principal industrial and munitions area in the Ruhr. But it is also known that close relations have been cultivated by the Krupps with Russia and Sweden. Whether these relations are concerned with the manufacture and supply of guns it is not yet possible to say."

(By The Associated Press.)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—The swift death that overtook two men at Beverly Hills Speedway yesterday left an orphan of the race track—Harlan Fongler, so-called "boy wonder" of the racing game.
Since last May young Fongler has been a driver making his first appearance at the Indianapolis sweepstakes. It was George S. Wade, Kansas City sportsman and car builder who had fathered his ambition to win on the racing track, and it was a "Wade Special" that the young speed pilot rode to fame.
Just as Fongler left the pits yesterday while the cars were lining up for the Thanksgiving Day classic, Wade waved to him and called out cheerfully: "Give it to 'em, Harlan; show 'em what it can do."
Those were Wade's last words. A moment later the speeding car of Harry Hartz struck him as he stood with his machine running perfectly. "She worked wonderfully," he said. "He would have been proud of it." Bennett Hill, driving 112.4 miles an hour, flashed over the finished lap, winning the race, displacing Jimmy Murphy, last year's titleholder. Hearn's grand total is 1,762 points; Murphy's 1,470 and the standing of the other drivers as follows: Bennett Hill 956; Harry Hartz 820; Tommy Milton 810; Harlan Fongler 720; Jerry Wonderlich 368; Earl Cooper 310; Frank Elliott 260; Dave Lewis 244. Hartz, unmoved and heartbroken by the fatal accident, refused to start. He will appear at the sheriff's office today to make a detailed statement regarding the accident. Hartz declared to officers last night that he was going between 40 and 50 miles an hour when he hit the photographer car struck the other men at the time of the crash.

"Starter Fred Wagner instructed me to go around the track to inspect it," said Hartz. "I was prepared to come around the turn at a high rate of speed, but slowed down when I saw I did not have a straight course. Then I took the only possible hole to avoid striking the cars lined up for the start."

Starter Wagner said: "The regrettable fatality was the result of a misunderstanding. I told Hartz to go around once an then pull behind the other cars. He did not do so. Only the officials are allowed on the track. I had been trying to clear it all afternoon."
Manager Young, while expressing deep regret for the fatal crash, declared that the men should not have been on the course.
The race ended the speedway's racing career.

TOUCHDOWN IN THIRD QUARTER GIVES V. M. I. VICTORY OVER V. P. I.

(By The Associated Press.)
ROANOKE, VA., Nov. 29.—The Red, White and Yellow bays in triumph over the fair grounds as a result of a brilliant victory scored by the Virginia Military Institute over the gridiron warriors of Virginia Polytechnic Institute this afternoon. A single touchdown, pushed across the Tech goal in the third quarter, gave V. M. I. a 6 to 0 victory.

Wyndham White, star full back of the Cadets, carved his name in the hall of fame and will go down in history as one of the famous stars of the Flying Squadron.

Rising from a bed of sickness, the stellar backfield man, rushed to the fair grounds and lined up with his teammates at the beginning of the second half. His entrance into the game seemed to add new life to the Cadet team.

It was White that scored the touchdown but this was a small part of his afternoon's work. His unerring aim in shooting passes and his ability to arouse his teammates to a final effort in the last half were really responsible for V. M. I.'s victory. The eight yard plunge through the Tech line for the touchdown was merely the culmination of the work of a great player directing a great team.

There was glory enough in the game for both eleven. The Tech's were defeated by a superior team but they were not outgamed. The doughty warriors from Blacksburg, with their backs to the wall put up a desperate struggle and but for the one big break of the game would have retired from the field with their goal line uncrossed.

For four long quarters the eleven battled back and forth across the field which was churned into a sea of mud by the cleated shoes. A cold drizzle fell throughout the contest and this added to the already almost impossible conditions of play.

Eighteen thousand persons, the largest crowd ever witnessing a football game in the state of Virginia, braved the rain to witness one of the most thrilling struggles ever enacted on the local field.

Governor E. Lee Trinkle and his entire staff was on hand to add color to an already brilliant assemblage. The Cadet corps of the Institutes led by their band played up full force and kept the air filled with yells for the battling warriors.

The stronger without a doubt won the game. The Cadets outshined the Techs and made ten first downs against only three for the Blacksburg boys. V. P. I. tried but one forward pass and completed that while the Cadets used the aerial attack for several long gains. The two passes, White's two attempts at field goals, P. I.'s territory during the third

GEORGIA TECH AND AUBURN IN SCORELESS TIE

(By The Associated Press.)
ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 29.—Georgia Tech's Yellow Jacket and the Auburn Tiger today failed to cross each other's goal line in their annual football contest before the largest crowd, estimated at 30,000 persons, to witness a football game in the South. The punting of Howe for Auburn and Wycoff for Tech was responsible for the scoreless tie.
The game was played in a sea of mud and with umbrellas up in the stands. Auburn, taking the field with the betting against them displayed a band of football that Tech could not shake off.
Tech threw the ball to Auburn's 20 yard line, only to be turned back twice by penalties and once on a fumble. Auburn's threat came in the last period of the game with only a few seconds to play. Allen intercepted a forward pass and ran through a broken field for 45 yards. He was downed on Tech's 27 yard line just before the whistle blew.
Howe and Wycoff kept the ball soaring back and forth. Once the Auburn fullback booted for 75 yards, the ball landing behind Tech's goal. He averaged 45 yards for his day's work as did Wycoff's longest spiral sailed for seventy yards.
Tech attempted eight forward passes. Seven were batted down and one intercepted. Auburn attempted four and completed one for four yards gain. Tech made twelve first downs and Auburn one.

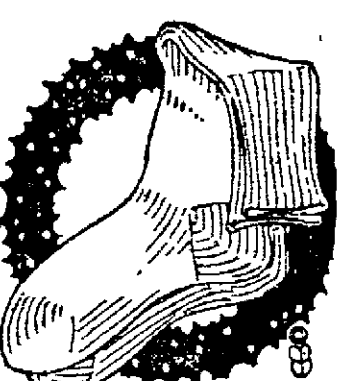

Generals Defeat Tar Heels 20-12

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 30.—Washington and Lee defeated the North Carolina Wolfpack in the annual encounter here today, 20 to 12, in a game that was much more closely contested than the score indicates. Neither team appeared strong on the defensive until its goal was actually threatened and then it was in at least two instances that the Generals out-generalized their rivals. Twice in the first half the Tar Heel warriors whipped the ball down the enemy's five yard line; and twice the Virginia line tightened to withstand all assault for four downs. It was not until the last half that the Carolinians turned loose with their dizzy overhead tactics. Fordward passes were largely responsible for both of State's touchdowns, though the first one came after successive various plunges by Shuford. The two halfbacks were the most consistent gainers of ground for the Tar Heels. The Washington and Lee backfield demonstrated an assortment of intricate plays that bewildered the Carolinians. These, with repeated plunges by Wilson, Cameron, Hamilton and Burke, netted the Generals their tallies. Carolina State completed nine out of fifteen forward passes untried by Washington and Lee executed four out of seven attempts. Two of these brought touchdowns. State registered nineteen first downs to Washington and Lee's seventeen.

Genaro Wins Over Tremaine

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Frankie Genaro of New York, American flyweight champion, won an uninteresting match with Carl Tremaine of Cleveland, a leading bantamweight, at Madison Square Garden last night. Genaro weighed four pounds less than his opponent, who tipped the beam at 116 1/2 pounds.
Bored by the stupid exhibition of boxing the holiday crowd at the Garden gave the fighters little attention in the final rounds and the decision was received with a few boos and no cheers. Tremaine had an advantage in weight, height and reach, and should have made Genaro an easy mark. He landed several good blows but failed to follow up his advantage. Neither boxer was aggressive and they passed a goodly part of the evening in each other's arms.

TENDLER TO COURT WELTER TITLE

By JOE WILLIAMS
The spirit being willing and the flesh heavier, Lew Tendler, southpaw genius of Philadelphia, is making amorous gestures in the direction of the welterweight championship. Tendler, in short, is outgrowing the lightweight class and is the weight continues to accumulate, the winter season may find him mingling with heavier talent.
As a lightweight Tendler had the misfortune to flourish contemporaneously with Benny Leonard, one of the greatest lightweights of all time. But for that fact he unquestionably would have won the championship.
A great hitter, fast, crafty and unusually scientific for a southpaw, Tendler was probably a better lightweight than Hagist, Rice, or Welch champions who preceded Leonard.
Tendler was a gamester, too. He could take a beating and come back and give one. While Jackson, a terrifically hard-headed pugilist, had him on the floor twice in the first round for counts of nine—one of which was considerably prolonged by Referee Pop O'Brien. Tendler looked like a beaten boy but his fine courage carried him through the period of turbulence and he won out at the end.
Can't Escape Leonard
Whether or not he would be a greater success as a welterweight than he was a lightweight is something of a problem. He wouldn't find the field as formidable, unless Leonard decided to enter the ring and knock him out in one of their fights in Philadelphia. had him on the floor twice in the first round for counts of nine—one of which was considerably prolonged by Referee Pop O'Brien. Tendler looked like a beaten boy but his fine courage carried him through the period of turbulence and he won out at the end.

TENDLER, AND HIS MIGHTY LEFT, hand fly without first making an opening, and as a lightweight Tendler's knockout record was second only to Leonard's.
That is proof enough that the Quakertown newsie was no wild

FLORIDA LICKS ALABAMA, 16-6

(By The Associated Press.)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 29.—Art Newton's toe and Alabama's attempt to play straight football defeated the Crimson Tide and eliminated Alabama from the Southern intercollegiate championship today. The score was 16 to 6.

Across a soggy, muddy field, Florida's alligators, led by Newton and Middlehuff, piled up a comfortable lead soon after the third quarter opened following Alabama's 6 to 0 lead at the end of the first half. In the second half, Florida showed a complete reversal of form and rammed the Crimson back at a steady pace.

TOBIN STAR BUNTER

Bunting is fast becoming a lost art in the opinion of no less an authority than the famous Hughie Jennings. Johnny Tobin, of the St. Louis Browns is one of the few great bunters still doing business. Mobin can bunt down the first or third base line or pull a fast drag with equal cleverness. Tobin's great speed, his ability to bunt and his penchant for crossing up the opposition by hitting one hard, makes him one of the most feared batters in the American League.

East Sees Brilliant Program of Gridiron

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Three upsets, one of which eliminated the previously undefeated West Virginia eleven from eastern championship consideration, featured the most brilliant Thanksgiving Day football program ever offered in the 7 to 2 defeat of West Virginia by Washington & Jefferson; the 20 to 3 trouncing of Pennsylvania State by Pittsburgh and in Leigh's 12 to 6 victory over Brown. Bordering on an upset was Pennsylvania's great stand against Old Dobie's Cornell eleven. Fourteen to seven proved the final score of this contest, which left Cornell with its smallest score of the season and resulted in the narrowest victory registered over Pennsylvania by Cornell since Dobie became coach of the latter team.

The one eastern game that fulfilled general predictions was that at the Polo Grounds where Dartmouth triumphed 31 to 6 over Columbia.

A fumble by Nardacci, who has been guilty of several such errors this season, paved the way to the Washington & Jefferson win over West Virginia. The latter had gone undefeated for eight weeks and had been tied by Penn State, and West Virginia rooters expected their team would be rated with Yale and Cornell as the best in the East.

At Pittsburgh, the Panthers, playing their last game under Glenn Warner, developed the most surprising upset of the day. Penn State felt certain of victory but found itself soundly outplayed in all departments of the game.

Penn forced Cornell to play its hardest throughout the full four periods at Philadelphia and had the Pennsylvanian attack proved as stout as its defense, Cornell's long string of triumphs might have been interrupted. It was a Cornell fumble late in the game, recovered by McGraw of the Red and White, that paved the way for Pennsylvania's score.

In the intercollegiate game of the day, Vermont proved no match for Marquette, and the latter completed its second successive season without a defeat.

William and Mary Defeats Richmond By 27 to 6 Score

(By The Associated Press.)
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 29.—Armed to a pitch of offensive power by the prospect of victory, the second in eleven years over their traditional rivals, the William and Mary Indians came from behind with a rush in their gridiron struggle with the University of Richmond here today and trounced the Spiders decisively by a 27 to 6 score.

The versatility and field sagacity of Matsui, Indian quarterback, in hurling punts and launching running plays stood out as the feature of a scrappy contest which furnished thrills to seven thousand spectators at Rugeley Island Park. Spectacular twisting runs were contributed by Cain, halfback.

After an indecisive first quarter when first William and Mary threatened them, the Spiders drew first blood in the second period. From the Indians' six yard line, a point reached by a pass from Miller to Griggs in the final minute of the initial period, Miller executed another short throw to Rucker who dived across for a touchdown. Miller missed goal.

Awakening, the Williamsburg eleven came back after kickoff and tied the score when a throw from Matsui to Jordan netted 55 yards and the Spiders' goal line. Matsui sent his team into the lead by booting the goal by drop kick. Here the half ended.

The visitors roused up a second rally in the third period and continued their irresistible offensive in the fourth by crossing the local goal line twice in quick succession. Matsui added points after the second and third touchdowns but missed the fourth attempt.

GATORS DEFEAT CRIMSON TIDE

(By The Associated Press.)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 29.—A muddy field that contained pools of water and an occasional drizzling rain from a murky sky failed to deprive 10,000 spectators of a thrilling football game here this afternoon when the University of Florida eleven eliminated the Crimson Tide from the Southern championship race by the score of 16 to 6.

Displaying a stubborn defense in the first half when Alabama scored after no less than five threats within the visitors' ten yard line, the Gators came back in the third quarter with the phenomenal punting of "Ark" Newton and the brilliant running of Edgar Jones to obtain a safe lead.

Jones scored all points for Florida with a pair of touchdowns and a place kick from the 13 yard line. Captain Robinson, playing his final game at tackle, Merrin, a 140 pound end and Goldenstein in guard featured for Florida with the entire Florida line playing an excellent game. Gillis, Alabama's star punter, got away to a splendid start but weakened in the latter part of the contest.

CAROLINA AND VIRGINIA BATTLE TO A SCORELESS TIE IN GUELLING GAME

(By The Associated Press.)

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 29.—With each team grimly resolved that its goal line should not be crossed, Carolina and University of Virginia battled here this afternoon to a scoreless tie in the 28th annual renewal of the Thanksgiving Day football game between the two institutions. So evenly matched were the elevens that the entire game was played in the middle 60 yards of the gridiron, neither team crossing the 20 yard line of its opponent during the sixty minutes of gruelling football. Virginia, resolved to score if possible, came very close to the objective in the second half when, within the distance of a drop kick from the goal post and directly in front of the goal. A pass by Thesmar, center for the Old Dominion eleven, however, went high over Arnold's head, who was playing back for the drop kick and the ball was recovered only after a heavy loss.

Virginia lined up in front of the goal post later on in the same half but at a greater distance and Thesmar repeated with another pass high in the air.

The game was played on a field heavy because of a rain which fell intermittently this morning. Shortly before noon the rain ceased but a cold damp wind kept those in the stands shivering and when the game was half over it again commenced to rain. The final period was played in a steady rain. Each team made six first downs.

The greatest crowd ever assembled at Emerson Field witnessed the classic. Unofficial estimates at the close of the game fixed the attendance at 18,000. Seats had been provided for 14,000 but crowds lined the field on all sides who were unable to find seats. Virginia was well represented, an entire section of the grandstand being filled with Old Dominion supporters.

Arnold and Maphis played stellar football for Virginia. These two men were in practically every play. Diffey also played an excellent game for the Virginians. For Carolina, McDonald penalties kept them away from the goal line.

In the last West Virginia registered two points on a safety. The play was on the Washington and Jefferson two-yard line and rather than punt from behind the goal line, Carlin downed the ball.

Undeclared West Virginia Eleven Loses to W. and J.

(By The Associated Press.)
MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 29.—The mighty West Virginia Mountaineers today met their masters in their old enemy, the Presidents of Washington and Jefferson College, losing a hard fought game 7 to 2. The victory of the visitors over the undeclared West Virginia eleven came as a distinct surprise as the Mountaineers had been picked as easy winners.

Time and again West Virginia threatened the Washington and Jefferson goal but the Presidents' defense stiffened in the pinches and the Mountaineers were thrown back.

Shortly after the first whistle saw the team into action, Mardacci, Mountaineer halfback, ran 57 yards through a broken field. He was brought down by West, the Washington and Jefferson star, within the shadow of the goal post and the Presidents took the ball on down. Twice again in this period West Virginia threatened but the Presidents fought hard and prevented a score.

Washington and Jefferson scored in the second quarter after Mardacci fumbled on the West Virginia 10-yard line and the Presidents recovered. The visitors launched a line assault and Amor scored. Captain Weiderquist kicked the goal.

Play in the third period was for the most part, in Washington and Jefferson territory but the Mountaineers were too anxious and offside

'BEST' IN CITY SERIES

George Grantham of the Chicago Cubs finished the 1923 season the most talked about young infielder in the National League. Yet in the series with the White Sox his ragged playing cost the Cubs all chances for the city championship of Chicago. He was the "bust" of the series, and his poor showing in that event may have a serious effect on his play of next season unless he pulls a courageous comeback.

TOUGH JOB FOR SISLER

One of the first statements credited to Manager George Sisler of the Browns was his intention to start an intensive educational campaign with the players the moment they reported in the spring. A knowledge of the rules and inside baseball were to be considered. Sisler may find that a tougher job than landing the Browns in the first division.

CARSON - NEWMAN AND KING FIGHT SCORELESS TIE

BRISTOL, Va., Nov. 30.—Floundering in mud and deep King Colledge and Carson-Newman battled to a scoreless tie before a crowd of four thousand persons here this afternoon.

King three times threatened to score on the visitors, and each time penalties forced the Tornado away from the Parsons' goal. Once King had the ball on Carson-Newman's four-yard line, but was penalized fifteen yards. On another occasion the Tornado was penalized when it had the ball on Carson-Newman's ten and twelve yard line. King made fourteen first downs and Carson-Newman five. Two of Carson-Newman's first downs were the result of penalties. On the final play of the game, in the final half on line plunges he gained a total of 44 yards. The entire Carson-Newman backfield gained a total of twenty-four yards in the last half. King was penalized nine yards for a total of 63 yards and the Parsons four times for a total of 40 yards. Few end runs were used by either team. The King Tornado twice marched almost the length of the field on line plunges only to lose the ball because of penalties.

IMMIGRANTS ARE DUPED BY AGENTS

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Operations of a man now engaged in the banking business who as a steamship company agent duped immigrants into contracts through which he received large sums for arranging to bring their relatives to America were revealed today by Charles Reich, counsel for the Russian Soviet government in the United States testifying at the legislative committee hearing on immigration exploitation.

Reich declared the agent took advantage of the immigrants' ignorance of contracts to get "service charges" and to arrange the transportation of their relatives in one case, he said the agent held $164 of $700 given him by a man who desired to bring his family of four to this country.

TWO YOUTHS BANISHED FOR STEALING GASOLINE

(By The Associated Press.)

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 29.—Banishment from Princess Anne county, for a period of six months, under penalty of serving thirty days in jail for violating the edict, was the punishment imposed today upon four Norfolk youths by Justice Graham at Virginia Beach for breaking the lock on a Virginia gasoline tank and helping themselves to the contents. The incident occurred several nights ago when the young men, on a joy ride, according to the testimony, ran out of gasoline at an isolated spot.

NEW COMPANY WILL RANK AMONG LEADERS.

(By The Associated Press.)

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—Despite the hitch which has prevented the inclusion of the Lever Springs properties from the new New England Southern mill corporation merger, the new company which has been formed to take over the Lockwood Green holdings will rank among the leaders of the textile industry in spinners and output. The failure to include the Lever Springs properties, comprising mills at Lancaster, Fort Mill and Chester, South Carolina, will reduce spinners from the company from $85,000 to $52,000 and the gross annual business planned from $30,000,000 to $21,000,000. The figures compare with $40,000 spinners for the American Company, $20,000 for the Consolidated Textile Company and $35,000 for the Pacific Mills. Inability to "agree on vital details" was the cause given by the springs representatives for the failure of the original program to make them.

ENGLAND WILL DOUBLE HER AIR STRENGTH

(By The Associated Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Civilians will form a large part of the personnel of the British Royal Air Force, which is being increased to more than twice its present strength. Two-thirds of the men in the reserve squadrons are to be civilians, and the auxiliary squadrons are to be organized on a similar basis to that of the Territorial Army, comparable to state militia in America. It is planned to have civilian labor care for all the repair work, other than minor running repairs, in most of the regular squadrons, and all the special reserve squadrons and all the auxiliary squadrons. By thus calling on the civilian labor reservoir, Great Britain would more than double her air power with an addition of only one-third of the present personnel, according to Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for Air. The introduction of this extensive non-military aviation force will reduce expenditures by large sums and have the advantage of getting civilians directly interested in air development, he said.

11-30B&R

Highly trained regular squadrons will, of course, form the backbone of Britain's air armada. These men will be trained in the regular squadrons, and with the exception of a small nucleus for administrative and instructional work, is to be composed entirely of civilians.
